Welcome to our catalogue for 2018. The following pages highlight the new titles and editions that will publish throughout the year. We hope the catalogue acts as one way of keeping you informed of our publishing and related developments.

However, in order to offer a more helpful service; to let you know about publication dates, share advance material, and showcase additional teaching resources; please ensure you are signed-up to receive subject e-newsletters direct to your inbox.

As data regulations tighten it’s important you take the advice on page 4 to update your preferences and stay informed, even if you currently receive emails from us.

Let our team of representatives (details on back page) be another way of keeping you abreast of our new publishing and help you deliver your courses in the most efficient and effective way. They are committed to delivering the highest level of support and service.

We’re keen to stay up to date with your teaching methods, and to provide the highest quality content in the ways that best suit your teaching and learning styles. That might be online delivery, and e-books (pages 14 & 15), or customizing content to produce a bespoke resource (page 21).

We welcome feedback on any aspect of our publishing and service, and look forward to sharing ideas on the development of legal education resources.

Solicitors Qualifying Examination

The legal education and training landscape continues to go through changes, bringing new challenges and opening up exciting opportunities. The SRA’s changes to solicitor qualification gives just one example of how, as a publisher, we are continually innovating.

Oxford University Press is the only publisher to offer a suite of legal resources that take a student from day one of their undergraduate law course through to their professional career and beyond. The advent of the Solicitors Qualifying Exam (SQE) doesn’t change that; in fact, it gives us the opportunity to further develop both our undergraduate and vocational publishing.

We are regularly in touch with the SRA, academics, course providers, and programme designers, and are actively developing a collection of resources to support the range of approaches which will be taken to prepare students for the SQE.

We remain committed to providing the highest quality materials for legal education and will continue to support you and your students with the materials you need, for the approaches you’ll take, in the formats you require.

We’ll be updating our website www.oxfordtextbooks.co.uk/law/sqe with progress and developments. If you’re involved with SQE preparation and would like to get in touch with feedback, suggestions, or an informal chat on how we might work together, please contact Angela using the details opposite.

OUP offers legal resources that take a student from an undergraduate course to their professional career and beyond.
How to use this catalogue

- In the following pages we have provided a listing of our new titles and new editions for 2018. Our full list of backlist titles is available to view on our website – see page 18 for details.
- Statutes and revision guides are available in most subject areas. See pages 19 and 22-23.
- The majority of our titles are supported by online resources - website URLs can be found under the product titles. Online resources are available on publication.
- Find out how we give back to legal education by reading about our goodwill initiatives on pages 26-27.
- Let your local campus representative guide you through our extensive list of books and resources to help you make the right decisions for your teaching needs. Visit page 28 for contact details.

Sign-up, Stay informed

Changes in data regulation mean that even if you currently receive emails from us, they may not continue if you are not correctly opted-in.

Take a moment now to ensure you are signed-up correctly and your details are current.

1. Enter your email address on this page www.oup.com/academic/subscribe, which will immediately be validated.

2. You’ll be invited to select subjects you are interested in, or if we already have your email address you’ll be sent a link directing you to complete the sign-up process.

3. Select your email preferences, and the classification that best describes you, and click Update Subscriptions.

You can amend your details, your preferences, or unsubscribe at any point.

When only bespoke will do

Oxford University Press offers the broadest selection of legal systems and skills books. We also offer a customized option that allows you to tailor-make your own textbook*.

We recognize that teaching can be distinctive and personal, and when that’s combined with topic content as varied as the English legal system it can be hard to find a textbook to suit your delivery.

OUP offers the broadest selection of legal systems and skills books. We also offer a customized option that allows you to tailor-make your own textbook (in hard copy or electronic format).

Pick the chapters you need from our range, put them in the order you want, and even add your own supplementary material as required.

We make the process of making a custom textbook as simple as possible. From the initial idea, through to getting stock to your students, you would be working with your usual campus representative.

Contact your campus representative to discuss how a customized option might suit you.

Most of our textbooks publish with accompanying online resources. The resources are closely linked to the textbook written by (or in conjunction with) the author.

Typical resources you might find include updates on recent developments in the law, and guidance on answering questions contained within a textbook, as well as self-marking multiple choice questions with feedback. All resources are designed to enhance the learning experience, add value, and save you time.

Our campus support

Oxford University Press has a team of dedicated representatives who visit institutions across Europe.

The team are committed to providing a high level of service and support. In fact we don’t believe you’ll receive a better level of ongoing support from any other publisher.

Oxford University Press is the only publisher to offer a suite of legal resources that will take a student through their entire educational journey, and beyond. Our extensive selection of textbooks, casebooks, statute books, revision guides and online resources offers an unmatched breadth and depth of learning materials.

OUP’s representatives remain the only campus calling team who are subject specialists. They will work with you to establish your requirements and provide relevant materials in the correct formats; packaging them to offer the best value for your students or your law school.

Contact your representative at any time and find out for yourself how they can help you deliver your teaching.
