Villain

The villain's name is:

______________________________

Do they have any distinguishing features? The villain looks like:

______________________________

How does your villain speak? What do they say? The villain speaks like:

______________________________

What is their goal? What do they want? The villain wants:

______________________________

What do they do? How do they get their goal? The villain acts like:

______________________________

Do others like them, laugh at them or feel scared? Other people think the villain is:

______________________________

Descriptive details can give the reader an instant impression of a character.

Chudleigh Pomeroy came storming in, his toupee askew and his round face red with indignation.
— MORTAL ENGINES by Philip Reeve

Malfy gave Professor Lupin an insolent stare, which took in the patches on his robes and the dilapidated suitcase.
— HARRY POTTER AND THE PRISONER OF AZKABAN by J. K. Rowling