IB History
– your quick guide to the revised syllabus

First examination 2017

This guide contains:

- Overview of the revised structure
- Snapshot introduction to new topics
- Update on changes to topics
- Quick overview of Approaches to teaching and learning and concept-based learning
- Key changes to the IA
Changes to structure – at a glance

New syllabus organization
The teaching routes have been removed. Standard Level learners now choose:
- 1 prescribed subject, out of a choice of 5
- 2 world history topics, out of a choice of 12
Higher Level learners also study:
- 3 sections of one HL regional option from a choice of 4 options.
All students still complete an internal assessment, called the Historical Investigation.

New content – prescribed
Learners select one prescribed subject from a choice of:
- Military leaders
- Conquest and its impact
- The move to global war
- Rights and protest
- Conflict and intervention

New content – world history topics
Learners select two world history topics from a choice of:
- Society and economy (750–1400)
- Causes and effects of medieval wars (750–1500)
- Dynasties and rulers (750–1500)
- Societies in transition (1400–1700)
- Early Modern states (1450–1789)
- Causes and effects of Early Modern wars (1500–1750)
- Origins, development and impact of industrialization (1750–2005)
- Independence movements (1800–2000)
- Evolution and development of democratic states (1848–2000)
- Authoritarian states (20th century)
- Causes and effects of 20th-century wars
- The Cold War: Superpower tensions and rivalries (20th century)

New internal assessment
From September 2015, the internal assessment will consist of a historical investigation covering three sections:

Identification and evaluation of sources
- Identify a question to investigate
- Choose and analyze two sources

Investigation
- Critically analyze the question
- Build an argument using primary and secondary sources

Reflection
- Comment on the methods used by, and challenges facing, the historian

Concept-based learning
From 2015 you will need to implement a concept-based approach, integrating six key concepts into learning. These concepts are:
- Change
- Perspectives
- Significance
- Consequence
- Continuity
- Causation

Helping learners more clearly connect subject content to wider global themes, concept based learning enables an active, student-centered approach. This promotes independent thought, strengthening understanding and achievement.

Approaches to teaching and learning
Developing big picture, trans-disciplinary skills is a priority in the new syllabus guide.
In DP History, this means creating a solid link between factual content, cross-disciplinary concepts and skills:

In addition to historical skills, you will need to develop the approaches to learning skills:
- Thinking skills
- Research skills
- Communication skills
- Self-management skills
- Social skills

Paper 1, prescribed subjects

Rights and protest

Rights and protest is a completely new subject that focuses specifically on two prescribed case studies:
- The US Civil Rights Movement (1954-1965)
- Apartheid South Africa (1948-1964)

Both case studies must be studied. Learning focuses on the nature and characteristics of discrimination, protests and action, and the role of key actors and/or groups.

The move to global war

The move to global war considers the causes, events and responses to military expansion from 1931-1941, focusing on two case studies:
- Japanese expansion in East Asia (1931-1941)
- German and Italian expansion (1933-1940)

The case study on Japanese expansion is completely new. This explores:
- The impacts of Japanese nationalism and militarism on foreign policy
- Domestic issues, such as politics and economics, and their impacts on foreign relations
- Political instability in China
- Key events including: the 1931 invasion of Manchuria and northern China, the Sino-Japanese War, the Three Power/Tripartite Pact and the outbreak of war
- Responses to expansionism including: the League of Nations and the Lytton report, the Second United Front, and the international response

Conflict and intervention

Conflict and intervention is also a completely new subject that focuses on two prescribed case studies:
- Rwanda (1990-1998)

Both case studies must be studied. Learning centers on causes of the conflicts, courses and interventions, and impacts.

Rights and protest

- US Civil Rights Movement
- Apartheid South Africa
