The elephant is walking through the jungle alone. There can be lots of colour and movement in this double-page spread – exotic birds and butterflies, monkeys swinging through the trees, maybe a tiger, to provide good talking-points for a young reader. The net can be positioned in a tree on Page 7, with a trip-wire on the ground directly on the elephant's route, so that the reader can spot the net and has a chance to anticipate what will happen next.
